To laugh often and love much; To win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children. To earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends. To appreciate beauty, to find the best in others To leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child; a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; To know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is to have lived. This is to have succeeded.

JOHN JAY COLLEGE
THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK
OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Dear Graduates:

On behalf of the entire John Jay community, I would like to extend to you our sincerest congratulations.

Your graduation is an important day for you and your family. It recognizes the perseverance and commitment that you have given to your scholarly pursuits here at the College.

You are now prepared to go forward and establish yourselves as leaders in your field, in either the public or private sector. Many of you will help solve the complex problems facing the criminal justice system. Others will play pivotal roles in other public service organizations and improve the quality of life within our city, our state, our nation and our world.

I am confident that John Jay has equipped you with all the tools you will need to take on the difficult tasks that lie ahead.

We wish you peace, happiness and professional fulfillment. It is our hope that graduation only reinforces the bond you have with the College. You will always be a part of John Jay, and our doors will always be open to you. The John Jay College website is a convenient way to keep abreast of activities at the College, no matter where you may be. I urge you to join the Alumni Association and make use of all the resources that our College has to offer.

As John Jay graduates, you are symbols of hope and success for all our current and future students.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Travis

November 2, 2006

Dear Class of 2007,

I think you are the luckiest people in the world. You are young, smart, accomplished, and very well-prepared for a lifetime of personal accomplishment and service to your communities.

That you have a John Jay degree is particularly important. There are a great many excellent colleges in America. However, none is as committed as John Jay to preparing students to contribute to the public good. When you first entered the College, you were "Tomorrow's Leaders, Scholars, and Heroes." Tomorrow has arrived and we are very proud of you.

Your education at John Jay gave you opportunities to work with other students, the faculty, and the community. This was intentional on our part. We wanted to help make you a part of a larger community so that you could see that, to live moral and productive lives, we all have to respect the rights of others to contribute their own and possibly different views to discussions of all kinds. We also wanted you to understand that none of us ever knows all that we would like to know and to value, as a result, the importance of lifelong learning. The world is constantly changing in profound ways and all of us must continue to learn so that we can continue to contribute to our communities in significant ways.

While you will soon be leaving John Jay College, we hope you will return to campus from time to time or stay in touch with us in other ways. We want to hear how things go with you. And we want to show you how things are going with us! As you know, there will be new building on campus soon. We'd love to be able to show you around.

Be well. Work hard. And remember your friends at John Jay College.

Dear Graduates:

I am delighted to congratulate you upon earning your degree. Your dedication and hard work have led you to this day.

The issues facing the criminal justice system and our society in general, are enormous. I am confident your degree will help you deal with these complex problems and provide the ideas and leadership needed in today's challenging times. I believe the education you have acquired at John Jay College has given you some of the tools to do that. I hope you will try to remain an active member of the John Jay College community as you pursue your personal and professional goals.

I extend to each of you and your families, my best wishes in all your future endeavors. Well done!

December 7, 2006

Class Dear Distinguished Graduates:

You have achieved a goal that identifies you as a distinct member of the John Jay College of Criminal Justice community; one who has pursued and completed a college degree of distinction. The first order of business as Interim Dean of Students is for me to congratulate you on your achievement. Secondly, it is my honor to have served you and I hope that in some small way to have had a positive impact on your life at the college both in and outside the classroom.

It is now time for you to recognize your affiliation with the college as a graduate and contribute in any way possible to enhance the higher education experience of those who will continue to follow in your footsteps. Consider how you can become a mentor or ambassador for the college through the Alumni Association. You can also seek to maintain your status by continuing to pursue a Master's Degree in one of our excellent graduate programs.

In either case, we look forward to your continued affiliation and encourage you to strive for continued excellence as you begin the next chapter of your career. Please feel free to contact my office so that we may continue to serve you. Congratulations!

Sincerely,

Arnold Osansky, M.S.Ed.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF
RESEARCH & GRADUATE STUDIES
JAMES P. LEVINE, PhD

Dear Graduates:

I write to congratulate you on your wonderful achievements. You have all worked very hard to complete your degrees, and this diligence has now paid off. It is not easy to fulfill all the tough requirements necessary for graduation, and you should be very proud of everything you have accomplished.

Now the future beckons. Many of you will seek additional education; others will embark on or continue careers. While it is tempting to relax after completing the long haul toward graduation, I know you will muster all your resources to achieve additional successes.

Whether or not you seek advance degrees, I hope you continue to educate yourselves. If the faculty and staff at John Jay College have done our jobs right, we will have instilled in you a love of learning. Discovering more about the world, and engaging in self-examination; these are the elements of the truly satisfying life. Commencement is the end of one journey and the beginning of another.

I wish you the very best in reaching your goals and realizing your dreams.

Sincerely,

James P. Levine

DEAN
OFFICE OF UNDERGRADUATE STUDIES
JANE P. BOWERS, PhD

Dear Class of 2007,

You spent countless hours in the library; you studied on commuter trains, heads buried in books as the scenery flashed by; you stayed up late while others in your family slept quietly in adjacent rooms. You held down a job while going to school full time, not wanting to burden your family with your college expenses. You balanced the demands of your complicated lives—the needs of parents, siblings, children, and others—with the demands of your academic goals. And you made it! You have earned your degree, and John Jay College is proud to call you a graduate.

As a graduate of John Jay College, you are prepared for a lifetime of learning, whether on the job, in graduate school, in professional development and continuing education, or simply in your leisure time, when you choose to read about a subject that piqued your interest in one of your classes. The habits of study and thought that you formed as a student at John Jay will stay with you forever and will provide a solid foundation for all your future endeavors.

We hope that you will stay connected to the John Jay family through visits to the campus and involvement in alumni affairs. You will always have a place in our halls—and our hearts.

The Inside of the Fog

I was traveling but I rode in Oblivion. I looked to my left and saw nothing. I looked to my right and saw darkness. I became aware that I was on the inside of the fog. Blackness stood around me, nothing in sight but my thoughts. I started questioning my life and decisions. I started reflecting on the people I surround myself with. I realized on the inside of the fog lies insecurities. This is the place where you cannot hide from your darkest secret. This is a place where lonely reside. I began to weep. Doubt begins to set in. Emotions, raw Emotions! I began to weep harder. At this moment I need to feel the touch of another body. I reach over seeking comfort, I grab to my left and no one is there. I reach to my right and no one is there. I began to weep harder. Why am I all alone? All I want is clarity. I want Frustration to subside and happiness to reside. As I reach what seems to be my destination, I suddenly realized that the inside of the fog is my heart.

Deborah Pride

I want the Revolution 2 Represent Me

The revolution I speak of is one where getting by with executive 9-5s for minimum wage is never enough. Being trampled on, sent to fight for oil or getting shot 50 times; our people had enough!
I'm sick of being a squirrel in the rich man's world trying to get a nut but every time I try to give the revolutionary war cry; in my face the doors shut. Then the boss and the company sustain a heavy stock loss; while you think you're sitting pretty, working for 9 dollars an hour trying to floss.
Not recognizing this plight were in and helping the people carry this cross, you need to get a gun, even a bat cause when we feel this invisible enemy we get scared and lay flat. When Malcolm X was looking for an army he got left with the phrase, "Where my people at!"
You need to learn some karate; you need to get some judo cause if you dont fight who will? Is there someone you know? This isnt a song and dance; its the lifeline to give our people a chance. The revolution is the page that the textbook refused. Its like the system tries to hide the truth so its no wonder all the kids become confused. How long has it been since we've had a real revolution that could free our mind, body and, soul? Through flow of polysymphonic overtones and, strength through subliminal need to know, we re-connect our sense of the world to reality by the strength of imagination. Create a new world order by creating a future through fascination.

Ian Stuart

of the Mind

Expressions through words

Live with Pride

Im all about peace, love,
and having fun, but son,
how can we live free,
having these guns?
Survival from your rival I agree is vital but you cannot walk around here
depressed and spiteful.
Live Free!
I know that its hard to be,
because, in reality this world is filled with fallacies.
Thats why I walk around with a thug mentality, because negativity is all you seem to ever have.
But I got moms and pops, Peeko and Jarhead, so
why are you coming to me
and start hating on me?
Now I am not trying to say that Im tougher than you.
Im just trying to show you brother that I am suffering too. We need to stop the violence and break the rules. Black, White, Asians, Afghans and Jews, It is understandable. This is the plan I drew, if you flip the script, well here is the manual. Because I can play the role, I can ride and die. But if we can change the world, we can all live with pride.

Osage Ashley

I Closed My Eyes Today

I closed my eyes today
Your shackles were broken
The bridle on your mouth was removed
The darkness of your heart has brighten
And you were able to roam the green pastures
I closed my eyes today
You were the Black Stallion
I was the green pastures
You nestled on my bosoms
And felt tranquility on my weeds...
I closed my eyes today
I was your Africa
The grasp of her smooth soil
The running rivers of joy
The rain of tears
The ocean of her heart
Her lightening of passion
She bore you and me
I closed my eyes today
You were Ramses and I was Neferteri
You conquered kingdoms
And I captured your heart
I closed my eyes today
Aphrodite never loved so hard
Ares no longer fought frivolous wars
Cupid shot me with his bow
You were Romeo and I, Juliet...
Just to repossess the myth
I again closed my eyes today

Graduating Class of 2007,

For years, you roamed the halls of John Jay knowing the time would come when you would have to spread your wings and fly into the real world. For some, their future endeavors are unclear. St. Clement of Alexandra said it best; "If you do not hope, you will not find what is beyond your hopes. Do not get discouraged because you do not know what to do next just seek possibilities." Many will go on to the next challenge ready to conquer obstacles. You are about to enter into a work force that often times is filled with hypocrisy and corruption. This is the sad reality but one does not have to be corruptible. In the words of Ralph Waldo Emerson, "We are all inventors, each sailing out on a voyage of discovery, guided each by a private chart, of which there is no duplicate." The world is all gates, all opportunities. Graduating class do not be afraid to become an opportunist. As future leaders, we have to remember what author Arthur C. Clarke stated, "The only way of finding the limits of the possible is by going beyond them into the impossible." Should you go out to explore and your dreams are met by a wall, remember what Confucius was quoted as saying, "Our greatest glory is not in never falling but in rising every time we fall." The problem is not failure that is just a setback; the problem is giving up and letting go of faith. Graduating class, remember what your fellow graduate Deborah Pride said," In a world that is consumed by negativity, good still overpowers evil." We cannot succumb to letting people put us down, we have to stand on integrity and continue climbing the ladder of success. Albert Einstein, reinforced this notion when he said, "Great spirits have always encountered violent opposition from mediocre minds. "
Once again Congratulations graduating class, we look forward to hearing about your achievements.

Sincerely,
The Yearbook Committee
